HERE'S the POINT

By SPENCE HELD

Daryll Johnson, owner of the Strand Theatre, "has been babysitter for almost every family in the community."

So said Mrs. E. L. Copenhaver, 1st. vice-president of Ocean Beach PTA, at its Founders' Day meeting the other night when she presented him with an honorary life membership. Johnson is careful to assure the safety of children at the theatre (he has three of his own), Mrs. Copenhaver pointed out.

Once a year Johnson turns over the theatre to the PTA, which sells tickets. He provides the help and movies, and all proceeds go to the PTA.

News that 22 giant whales ran aground in the Gulf of California last week, playing the fatal game of "follow the leader", reminded me of the time a column of Navy destroyers came to grief on the coast north of here.

It was during the 1920's. I forget whether seven or 11 ships piled up on the rocks, but in any event it was an unlucky number. Many retired Navy men in this area undoubtedly remember the tragedy—more than 20 men lost their lives, as I recall, and the ships were a total loss.

The City Park and Recreation Department has been staging yo-yo contests on all playgrounds, including Ocean Beach. (Oh, boy!) That's one thing I missed as a playground director years ago.

For the record, most of the kids behaved themselves then but there were some toughies at Memorial, Rose Park, University Heights and Golden Hill Playgrounds . . . Once, at Golden Hill, they "pantsed" the director—an inoffensive, middle-aged fella—removing his britches by force and violence and running them up the flagpole to wave in the breeze.

Then they locked him in the shower room and went their way rejoicing.

At Rose Park a certain punk stood across the street and bombarded me with tomatoes. Next day he showed up, mouthing insults. So I slapped his face and kicked him off the playground "for life." (Probably he came back after I "graduated" into the newspaper racket.

However—and here's the point—none of those kids carried knives, and they didn't take 13-year-old-girls out and get them drunk. (Maybe the girls had more sense; more likely, their parents were strict with them.)

When they were staging those A-bomb tests in Nevada not long ago, we set our alarm for 5:20 a.m. or thereabouts one morning and saw the flash light up the northeastern sky.

Another test was televised. That night I sat in a cafe and listened to a conversation which went like this:

Woman: "I turned off my television set just before the A-bomb went off."

"Why?" asked another.

"Well, I didn't want the set to blow up!"

For my money, the Russians are more afraid of us than we are of them. After all, we've got 'em surrounded with air bases, and they're not anxious for a war at this time. I hope it never comes. Nobody will win the next one—everybody will lose.

New Elementary School Opens Here Next Month

With the opening Monday, March 1, of the newly-constructed Sunset View Elementary School, the Peninsula area adds to its fast growing community another school with an enlarged district and an enrollment of over 600 pupils, said Charles Byrne, director of public information for San Diego Schools.

Miss Lois Chatterly, principal of Azure Vista School, her faculty and entire student body will move into the new 18-classroom school on Hill St. in Point Loma. In addition to the present staff, seven new teachers will be added to the Sunset faculty. They include Robert Crossley, who will teach a 4th and 5th grade combination, and Gordon Breidenthal, who will teach a 3rd and 4th grade class. Both are from Midway School.

Also, five teachers from Silvergate school, Miss Elva Drake and Mrs. Margaret Griffith, first grade; Mrs. Marianne Harner, third grade; Mrs. Juliann Jeronimus, second grade, and Mrs. Betty Splitt, kindergarten.

The school includes two separate kindergarten rooms, three portable classrooms and an adminstrative unit, including nurse's quarters, teachers' workroom and principals' offices. There is also a cafeteria-auditorium unit.

Three more portable classrooms will be moved in next year to accomodate the expected increase in enrollment, Byrne said.

Appointment of Frank F. Swan of 1659 Ebert St., to an important post in the 1954 Red Cross campaign, was announced this week.

Goal for San Diego County this year is $459,554. However, the total spent in this county is 1,017,845. Because of the heavy concentration of the military in the county, 62 per cent goes to the armed services and the remainder for local needs.

SEWAGE PLANT FIGHT LOOMS

INSPECTION—Some of the best backs in Ocean Beach are visible here as directors of the O. B. Chamber of Commerce visit the site of the proposed sewage plant on Point Loma. H. E. Miller, of the San Diego office, State Water Pollution Control Board, is doing the pointing.—Michael Maconnell photo.

Some Lomans Oppose It But Others Undecided

Opposition to the proposed multi-million-dollar Point Loma sewage disposal plant apparently was shaping up among Peninsula residents this week following a "question-and-answer" session attended by 75 persons last Thursday night. However, Dr. William C. Rust, president of California Western University, not far from the plant site, reserved judgment pending further study.

Dr. Rust, along with Harry La Dou, president of the Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce; John J. Thomas, of 1001 Devonshire Dr., and others expect to attend a meeting in the City Council chamber at Civic Center tomorrow at 2 p.m.

A. M. Rawn, engineer, will answer questions regarding the project, according to City Manager, O. W. Campbell.

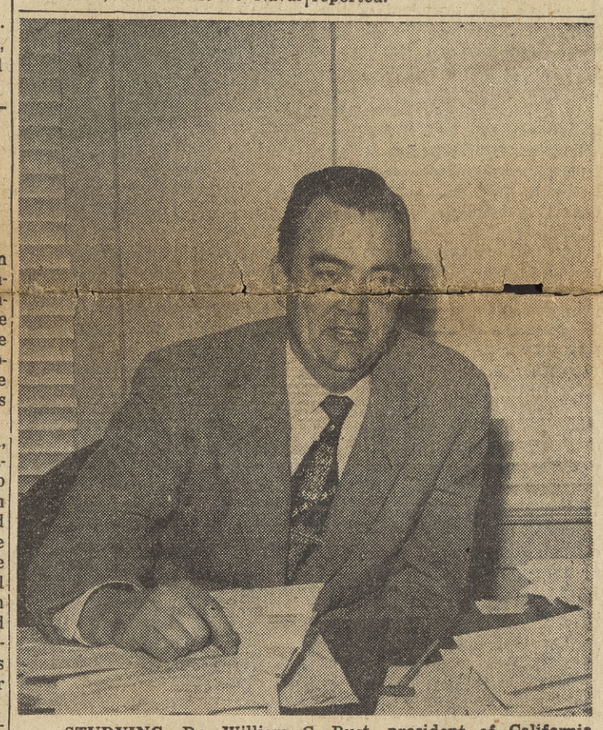
Councilmen Burgener and Wincote attended the meeting of Point Loma residents last Thursday at the home of Dr. Paul Wedgewood on Sunset Cliffs Blvd. Present also were Dr. Rust, Dave Fleet, La Dou and Dr. Will Kidwell, of State College, who acted as moderator.

Thomas, a scientist at Naval Electronics Laboratory, reported that no formal action was taken at the meeting. He said: "We agree the City needs additional sewage plant facilities, and would like to be able to endorse the proposed 16-million-dollar bond issue.

"However, the majority of the people at the meeting are opposed to locating the plant on Point Loma. They feel it should be placed in an industrial area."

On the other hand, Dr. Rust said: "We feel that if they can guarantee no odor or pollution, then there is no problem. We're seeking information now."

The Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce also is studying the project, President La Dou reported.



STUDYING—Dr. William C. Rust, president of California Western University, is seeking further information on the proposed Point Loma sewage disposal plant.

Big Pipeline Project For Point Loma Area

Approximately 8000 feet of additional feeder line on the Catalina water pipeline is being constructed between the Catalina reservoir and a new standpipe being built near the Navy Electronics Laboratory property on Point Loma.

From Catalina Blvd. the route of the new pipeline goes west two blocks on Varona, south on Moana with a jog to Orma. It will cut back south to Moana, then through the campus of California Western University on Lomaland Drive. From there it will angle southwest to Garden Lane, back to Catalina and south to the edge of the NEL property.

Scheduled for completion within six months, the new water line could serve the Point Loma area if anything happened to the line now on Catalina, said Ben Huntington, engineer for the City Water Department. Twenty-five percent of the cost is being covered with Federal funds, he said.

Pelican Catches 17-Pound Cod

With the $5000 Winter Fishing Derby now in its last two weeks, deep sea anglers turned on the steam as they entered the home-stretch and not only made better than average catches of red cod and groupers but also racked up their share of over-size ling and cow cod to keep the interest hot.

Largest fish of the derby week proved to be a 17 pound 6 ounce cow cod caught by Frank Pelican, of Carlsbad, and runner-up was a 16-15 cow cod bagged by Albion Baker, of Paonia, Colo.

February monthly competition will be brought to a close this Saturday night at the end of three weeks, and the final week of the month will be devoted to a free-for-all for another set of prizes topped by a 21-inch TV-radio console.

In spite of the approaching end of the Winter Derby, anglers had a hard time keeping their minds on their business this week as schools of yellowtail were seen repeatedly at the Coronado Islands. No effort was made to take them, but it was a welcome sight since the surface fishing season is just around the corner.

PT. LOMA HIGH IN BIG AWARDS COMPETITION

Search began this week in high schools throughout Southern California to find 1,500 senior students who will receive unusual recognition under the 1954 Achievement Awards program of Bank of America. The top 60 will receive cash awards totaling $17,600.

In each participating school, committees of teachers and principals will name students who are outstanding in classroom studies, outside activities, and leadership. These will receive certificates of achievement. The same teacher committees will select the top students within this group, who will receive gold engraved cups and, in most cases, will represent their schools in zone competitions with other schools.

At zone competitions the students will be interviewed in groups by judging panels of civic leaders, and will discuss important topics of the day. The winners in the zones will all receive cash awards ranging from $1,000 down to $100, the amount of each to be determined when the students later appear before a final board of civic leaders for new group discussions.

The bank's annual program is statewide, but there is no competition between the northern and southern divisions. Total cash awards statewide is $35,600, with about 1,100 gold cups and 4,000 certificates being given. The object is to "bring public attention, reward, and encouragement to young people who show unusual promise of future success and service to society."

To reach the greatest possible number of students, the awards are given in four general fields of study: vocational arts, fine arts, liberal arts, and science and mathematics.

Mrs. J. K. Swift Recipient Of A Life Membership

The highest honor which a PTA unit can bestow was given to Mrs. James K. Swift, 4427 Brindisi St., this week. Mrs. John Faris presented her with a life membership, on behalf of Azure Vista Parent-Teacher Association at the unit's Founder's Day meeting Tuesday.

Mrs. Faris explained as she made the presentation that the award committee had chosen Mrs. Swift for her outstanding community service in many fields, in addition to her PTA work. Among her activities have been Brownie and Cub Scout leadership, recreation council, Red Cross, and voters' service. Her first PTA office was that of inside publicity chairman in 1946, and she served on the executive board every succeeding year until 1953, when other considerations forced her to resign. Among the PTA offices Mrs. Swift has held are study group, membership, room mothers, finance, and telephone chairman, auditor, historian and treasurer.

Life memberships in the California PTA Congress serve both to honor individuals and to further the cause of education. The unit pays $25 for the privilege of making the award. The state PTA office then uses the fund thus created for loans, without interest, to worthy students in need of help for college or vocational education; or for allocation, according to the recommnedations of special committees, to scholarships and fellowships.

This is the second life membership which the Azure Vista PTA has given. Last year the unit honored Owen Handley, who was then principal of Azure Vista school. Nominating Committee Named At Thurs. Meeting Of Ocean Beach Woman's Club

By Marian Krettler

Doctor Crosbie, a veterinary from the San Diego Zoo was the interesting guest speaker at Thursday's meeting of the Woman's Club, telling of the problems of securing 125 items of food for the varied creatures. 1470 pounds of horse meat for example, are needed daily. And when it comes to treating ailing animals and reptiles, the problems are not simple.

Before mentioning the many dates coming to the club, which it might be well to clip for future information, busines before the organization included the naming of a nomination committee. Those who will serve in this capacity are, Mrs. Will Kidwell, Mrs. F. G. White, Mrs. Bert Wenrich, Mrs. D. I. Thersinen, Mrs. Robert Bruce.

Sno-Cats stalk trouble in the mountains. High in the snow country of the Pacific West, winter blizzards are fierce and frequent. Here motorized Sno-Cats help telephone crews roll out fast to stop trouble before it can interrupt service. The powerful "Cats" carry 6 to 8 men comfortably, cruise over the snow and ice at speeds up to 25 miles an hour. Using these vehicles instead of skis or snowshoes, our mountain crews patrol vast areas faster. They can spot such potential troublemakers as leaning poles, broken branches, wires buried in towering snow drifts. By saving valuable time and helping prevent trouble, the Sno-Cat helps us cut costs, hold down the price of telephone service to you. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

Susanne Stanberry Birthday Honoree

A refreshing Spring like atmosphere filled the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Stanberry, 1849 Catalina Boulevard, on Wednesday. The reason for the yellow hues about the house was little Susanne Stanberry's seventh birthday observance.

The table center was a lovely Hollywood Doll Cake which the celebrant and her twelve young friends enjoyed.

Guests present for the occasion included: Betty Ann and Janet Sweet; Kathy Leach, Debbie Phelps, Debbie and Deedie Olds, Candy Rohr, Carol Kindig, Stephanie Florey and Ikonija Skeulovich.

Book Review Group To Meet Monday

By Marian Krettler

"It Began With A Roar", Neil Morgan's recent book, was the subject of discussion when the book review people of the Ocean Beach Woman's Club met with Mrs. Lawrence Krettler Monday evening.

This review was different. Julia McGarvey and Daisy Munchiando joined in telling about the book, which is an account of the way in which Doctor Wegeforth went about establishing the great Zoo everyone enjoys today. The material was gathered from the memoirs of Dr. Wegeforth's widow, and how, without apparent nonresistance the Doctor managed to get from the city the support he wanted. Why? Just because he loved animals—and children.

The next meeting of the book reviewers is scheduled for February 22, when Mrs. Harvey Reinke of 4422 Long Branch will be hostess to the group, at one in the afternoon and an interesting subject is promised.

While alterations to the Woman's clubhouse are under way, the book sessions will be conducted at hospitable homes. Not only members of the Woman's Club but also new-comers to the area are invited to attend. A social hour follows the programs and it's a wonderful way to become acquainted with like-minded persons who enjoy hearing about books.

O. B. KIWANI-ANNES HEAR MISS HELEN BLAKE

At the regular meeting of the Ocean Beach Kiwani-Annes, held at the Community Center Tuesday evening, Mrs. James Noel, the new president, was in the chair. The tables for the dinner were beautifully decorated in the Valentine motif, with a large hetart and Valentine cake on the head tables.

Following a business session, Vice-President Mrs. Russ Bement introduced the speaker, Miss Helen Blake of San Diego. Miss Blake told of the work being done for cerebral palsy patients. She especially urged the group to learn to understand the causes and to help in the education plans being developed to combat this disease. A film was shown to illustrate the new methods being used.

Kenneth Robellard of a local TV and radio repair shop, was the recepient this week of a surprise gift from TED'S SHELL SERVICE. Come in and ask how you can also be surprised. Ask us about the Big Red Question Mark in the Window.—Adv.

CAMPUS CONVERSATION—When Dr. and Mrs. William C. Rust of California Western University entertained recently with a dessert and coffee for the prominent opera lecturer, Jan Popper, the table decorations took top billing in conversational circles. Mrs. Frederick C. Sherman, who did the arrangements, used the tiny artificial birds, the ones she brought back from Sweden last summer, on a gilded branch and surrounded it with pink camelias.

The "piece de resistance" was a prize-winning piece of driftwood, resting in a bed of greenery and affording a perch for two very much alive parakeets!

Mrs. Rust asked three wives of the Board of Directors to pour, Mmes. Robert J. Sullivan, Ewart W. Goodwin and John Cranston. Mrs. R. E. Chenhall and Mrs. H. Gary Hudson also assisted. Guests were the executive officers of the San Diego Opera Guild.

THE KING AND SHARMAN—While visiting in Phoenix recently Mrs. Frederick Carlyle Thompson met and talked with the wife or former Ambassador to England, Lewis Douglas, who told of eating on golden plates at a dinner party at Buckingham Palace and of an amusing incident with the King. When he came up to her and her daughter, Sharman (internationally known for her romances with titled Englishmen and her friendship with Princess Margaret) a page happened to be passing with a plate of chocolates. When the King offered some to Sharman, she nervously answered, "Oh, no, thank you. I'm anemic to chocolate."

TRIP TO THE ISLANDS—Honolulu in April are the plans of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bradley, 996 Point St., who will go by boat and return by plane. They will take their youngest daughter, Kay, with them, leaving Bobby and Betty Ann in school. Honolulu is Mrs. Bradley's home town and it was there that she met her husband.

COOK'S AN ANGEL, TOO—A neighbor of her, C. H. Eldred, told us about the delicious Lemon Angel Pie that Mrs. J. B. Askew, 4344 Orchard, baked for them when Mrs. Eldred had an eye illness recently. When we inquired, Mrs. Askew generously offered us the recipe. Here it is:

Cream 4 eggs and ¾ cup sugar. Add ¼ cup lemon juice and 1 T butter. Cook in double boiler until thickened stirring often. Remove from heat, fold in two beaten egg whites. Pour into baked pie shell and top with other two egg whites which have been made into meringue.

SNOW FUN—Looking forward to skiing and ice skating at Badger Pass near the Fire Falls in Yosemite National Park this week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Olson and their two daughters, Nancy and Janney. Today is Noncy's twelfth birthday and her family thought this a super way to help her celebrate it.

SECRET'S OUT—Mrs. Donald F. Phillips, who is Ways and Means chairman for the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Point Loma, let us in on a secret when she told us of the forthcoming Desert and Fashion show being planned by the women of the church. The Cafe Del Rey Moro, now closed for redecorating, will be the setting for the show and under new management. Mrs. Helen Thompson is closing her Tea Room in the Green Dragon area of La Jolla and will be the new manager.

CONVENTION DELEGATES—Mrs. A. W. Withers, 4567 Bermuda Ave., and Mrs. Russell L. Jones, 3065 Madrid, were two of the eight delegates of the San Diego League of Democratic Women at the State Convention in Fresno last week. Mrs. Jones is also a member of the State Central Committee. The two women, who almost froze to death in Fresno, vowed they would never complain about San Diego weather.

Army Reserve Questions Are Of Many Types

....The Reporter continues to receive questions and shall endeavor to answer those questions that are unusual in nature or most frequently asked.

Q. I was separated from the service in 1946 as a Sergeant and since then I have had no active or Reserve service. After reading the facts pertaining to the Retirement Plan, I feel that it would be worth while to join the Army Reserve. Would I have to enlist as a Private?

A. Each case is weighed on its own merits but depending upon your civilian background since release from service, education, and branch of the Army Reserve your are interested in, it is possible to enlist at your old grade.

Q. I have completed two years of College ROTC and understand that it is possible to enlist at a grade higher than Private E-1.

A. Certainly, the Army Reserve will enlist you in higher grades for successful service with both Senior and Junior Division ROTC. The following is the authorized grade structure for successful service:

(1)—Senior Division ROTC: 1 year—Private (E-2); 2 years—Private First Class (E-3); 3 or more years—Corporal (E-4).

(2)—Junior Division ROTC: 2 years—Private (E-2); Completion of Course—Private First Class (E-3).

Q. If I joined the Army Reserves, may I attend any Army Schools?

A. Certainly, you may select to attend any of the technical or service schools. If you let your wants be known, the necessary administrative arrangements can be made. As you are probably well aware, the Army School System will further qualify you for new skills and enhance your chances for promotion

Continue to address questions personally or by mail to your Army Reserve Training Center, Building 140, Fort Rosecrans, or call ACademy 3-3168.

The Third Annual Chinchilla Show, sponsored by the San Diego Branch of the National Chinchilla Breeders of America, will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 20 and 21, in the Electric Building, Balboa Par. This will be done through the medium of numerous exhibits illustrating by models movies, slides and demonstrations the interesting points of the chinchilla industry whether pursued as a hobby or as a business. Harrison Melhorns Entertain At San Diego Braille Club Meeting

The San Diego Braille Club, at its Friday Reading Circle meeting, was singularly honored to have its part of its program the music of Mr. and Mrs. Harison Melhorn of 3904 Bernice Drive. Throughout the years the club has been fortunate in securing some of the city's foremost musicians for its programs, and the music on Friday deserves some superlatives.

For the enjoyment of the large audience at the Blind Center, Mrs. Melhorn rendered with skill and brilliance "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark," as well as lighter songs by American composers. The amazing dexterity she demonstrated in playing her own accompaniments and her husband's flue solos, was a performance that deserves high praise. The flute obligatto for some of the vocal numbers added real charm and thoroughly delighted the listeners. Mr. Melhorn also played several flute solos which were enthusiastically received.

Mr. Melhorn's many solos appearances as flutist with the Clark Band of Long Beach, and his membership in the San Diego Symphony attest the caliber of his musicianship. His wife is no less accomplished having studied abroad and having been for two years the regular soloist of the Seattle Symphony.

Many Hands Help Heart Fund Drive

Mrs. Yvonne Nelson, chairman in charge of this district on the Heart Fund campaign happily announces that many citizens have had a "heart" in helping her with this important drive.

Ed Peterson of the Safeway Store has given the use of his grocery carts to take the hearts around to the merchants of Ocean Beach. One hundred and fifty plastic heart containers have been distributed.

Men of the local Fire Station have pitched in and are doing all the bookwork and counting of the money, thus lifting a big load from Yvonne.

Lovely assistants in the work of the distribution have been Nancy Thompson and Pauline Ward.

LEE C. POOLE

AC3-5954 had rung the third time before I finished typing a sentenance and answered.

"Mr. Poole", the friendly voice asked, "I am Mrs. Z..... I have read your columns since they began and I enjoy them."

"Thank you, Mrs. Z..... for telling me. What may I do for you?" I asked.

"I would like some information about Social Security. Do you think I can get it and how much do you think I would get?" Mrs. Z..... queried.

"That depends on several questions. I would need to know your age, your husband's age, how long he had been under Social Security, and how much his average monthly earnings had been."

Mrs. Z..... replied, "I am 64. My husband has been dead for several years. He didn't have much life insurance. Most of the time he had been self-employed. He took a wage job under Social Security just about 6 months before he died. They told me there were no benefits for me and my boy. But my boy is in the Navy now and is training to be a dentist. If I can get by until he gets into practice, I won't have any worries. But it may take 7 years. What do you think?"

I think I replied promptly, but many many thoughts raced through my mind. Mr. Z..... was dead. Little life insurance. He wasn't covered by Social Security as he would have been had he died at a more convenient time. It was late in Mrs. Z.....'s life to be planning financial security for the "retirement" years she had already reached. What could I tell her. She had her own house-keeper work experience, perhaps some friends, and a son's hoped for success as a dentist in about 7 years. Mustering what I thought was a "smile" in my voice, I asked Mrs. Z..... "Are you working now?" She does have some housekeeping work quite regularly and after several minutes of talk, Mrs. Z..... thanked me and hung up.

Many self-employed men, like Mr. Z....., died at the inconvenient time before Social Security applied to them. If you, or some of your friends, are self-employed now, you and they are probably "covered' 'by Social Security. If you earned a minimum of $400 in self-employment and were (1) a sole-owner,)2 a partner (if your wife is your business partner, under certain conditions she can qualify too), 3) a beauty parlor owner, 4) a restaurant operator, 5) an independent music teacher, 6) an artist, 7) a photographer, 8) a real estate dealer, 9) a stock broker, 10) a rooming house operator, or 11) a parking lot operator; you are eligible for Social Security coverage.

Is it really important to know where you stand under the Social Security act? I think so. Why pass up any benefits that might come to your loved ones? Once Mrs. Z..... was as young as your wife is now, . . . or you, if you are the wife. Mrs. Z..... and Mr. Z..... could not see far enough beneath the surface of life to foretell the present income needs of Mrs. Z.....: Are you positive that you, and the girl who gets your breakfast, gets the kids off to school, and waits dinner for you when you're late, have adequately assessed your minimum family income needs? Related those needs with your life insurance program and your possible Social Security benefits? If you feel inclined to make an improvement in those minimum plans, do it now. Death never comes at a convenient time.

THE OLD COAST

DREAMS COME TRUE

Before the end of the 17th Century two great dreams of European colonizing nations had been realized: In the English Atlantic colonies, a general postal system had been established. On the Pacific, in New Spain, a permanent colony had been at last settled on the "Island off California."

In the year 1691 the English Colony Ministry set up a 25-year Postal Monopoly for the American colonies. The contract was given to one Thomas Neale. For sixteen years he gave the colonies—all of them, from the North Atlantic to the Caribbean—their first comprehensive postat coverage. But he surrendered his contract in 1707 before its .erm was completed.

Return Visit

Three years later, in the Gulf of California, one of Atondo's associates, Francisco de Itamarra, paid a return visit to the old colony site at San Bruno, across the Sea of Cortez. He reported the Indians to be still friendly—and clamorous for the return of the black-robed padres. They remembered the taste of pozole (mission-style porridge) and were anxious for conversion.

At La Paz and San Bruno with Antondo had gone three Jesuir missionaries, the leader of whom became the famed explorer and geographer of Sonora and Arizona, Father Eusebio Francisco Kino. He fell in love with California and the Californians. It broke his heart when the colony had to be abandoned.

First C. of C.

From that date onward, 1685, Padre Kino set himself up as California's First Chamber of Commerce. At every opportunity he advertised the beauties and the wonders of California, the virtues of the climate and the friendliness of the people. To his fellow missionaries, to the Indians of Sonora, to the soldiers, to the settlers, to the Spanish officials, he talked California. In season and out of season, in school and out of school, in church and out of church, in court and out of court, walking he talked California, and sleeping doubtless he dreamed California.

Eventually, to his mission in Sonora, came the Jesuis Visitor, Father Juan Maria Salvatierra. For several weeks the two were together, peregrinating through the wilds of Sonora, visiting various mission fields over which Father Kino was the Superior. When, at the conclusion of his tour of inspection, the Reverend Visiter returned to Mexico City, Californi had two Chambers of Commerce. Kino had effectually converted Salvatierra to his way of thinking about California as a field for spiritual conquest.

$50,000 Raised

A third California enthusiast entered the picture in the person of Father Juan de Ugarte. He circulated among the wealthy devout people of the capital and raised in pledges or cold cash a sum amounting to nearly fifty thousand dollars,—donated for the purpose of establishing a "Piour Fund of the Californias". Father Salvatierra now presented the Viceroy of New Spain with the proposition that Jesuit Order would attempt to establish missions in California, and finance them itself, if the Government would grant a license to do so.

First Of All

The boat in which Father Piccolo sailed was delayed by a storm on the gulf. But Salvatierra's little band arrived safely. Under the dubious blessings of an actual attack by savages, the Mission of Our Lady of Loreto was founded late in the year 1697. It was the first of all the missions of California—the beginning milepost on California's El Camino Real.

This license was finally issued February 5th, 1697, by which Fathers Salvatierra and Kino were authorized to establish the mission. As it turned out, Father Kino was held by the Governor in Sonora, where he could not be relieved, due to an Indian revolt. Salvatierra got the effects together, recruited an army and navy, and set sail Oct. 10, 1697.

Five Soldiers

"Father Salvatierra's military attendants were peculiarly devoted to this enterprise and consisted of five soldiers with their commander: Don Luis de Torres Tortolero, ensign and first captain of the garrison of California; Don Estevan Rodrigues Lorenzo who afterwards was many years a captain; Bartholome de Robles Figueroa, a Creol of the province of Guadalajara; Juan Caravana, a Maltese sailor; Nicholas Marques, a Sicilian sailor; and Juan, a Peruvian mulatto; besides whom there were three Indianse, Francisco de Tepahui, of Sinaloa, Alonso de Guayavas of Sonora, and Sebastian of Guadalajara".

Salute them with 100 Anvils—the ten original pioneers of El Camino Real—as the people of Old San Diego did the first Overland Mail which arrived in 1857, 160 years later.

Nat'l Secretaries Association Plans Retirement Home

The National Secretaries Association—the world's largest Association for women in one profession—is now planning a Home for retired secretaries. The Home will also serve as a vacation resort for secretaries who are still active in the business world. This was announced today by Mrs. Lilyan Miller, president of the organization. Mrs. Miller also stated that this is the second major project which the Association has launched in three years. Its first project, successfully launched in 1951, is the CPS—Certified Professional Secretary — examinations which are now held annually in schools and colleges throughout the county and are aimed at placing secretaryship on a professional level.

Check Localities

A Board of Directors for the Resort-Home—composed of five members of the non-profit National Secretaries Association with Mrs. Miller as chairman—is currently working on several specific assignments. These assignments include drawing up a blueprine for the operation of the project and checking localities throughout the United States for favorable climates since this will be an important factor in determining the selection of a site.

Funds Raised

Funds for the Resort-Home have been raised and will continue to be raised through national and local projects sponsored by 300 Chapters of The National Secretaries Association throughout the country. One of the most important of these was a giant shopping mart to which Chapters contributed items for sale. Other projects include: Birthday Funds to which members donate sums of money on their birthdays; donations at Chapter anniversaries and from Chapter Funds. A member of the Board of Directors of the Resort-Home is now looking to the possibility of securing additional funds through a Foundation.

The National Secretaries Association was established in 1942 to promote the educational and professional standards of secretaries. Its current project, the Resort-Home, is indicative of the organization's outstanding leadership and continued efforts to further the welfare of women in the secretarial field.

"Whatisit"

The practice of awarding Honorary Life Membership was started in 1925, when the Calif. Congress of Parents and Teachers realized the great need of worthy young people for funds to continue their studies beyond high school. It was decided that Honorary Life Memberships would be purchased to honor someone having given outstanding service to children, either in a Parent Teacher group, school or community.

It is not only the honor done to the individual, being selected to receive this recognition, but the payment of $25 to the Honorary Life Membership fund, in that person's name, which immediately begins helping others. These loans are interest free and may be used in a number of ways, First established were the student loans for any type of approved education beyond the high school level, this is still the most widely known. Loans are granted for preparation for elementary school teaching in Calif. public schools, for teaching handicapped children, and working in the field of summer counceling and guidance. In view of the critical need for nurses, nursing scholarships were established in 1951. Little is commonly known of the final two fellowships, International Relations, which carries a committment to one year of government service in return, and Children's Librarian, with service in school or public libraries expected.

When you pause to think that since 1925, more than $404,000 has been loaned to the young people of our state to enable them to continue their education, it makes one very proud to belong to an organization which helps others to help themselves.

Any unit, council or District might present an Honorary Life Membership, and its presentation constitutes the highest honor within the power of the Parent Teacher Ass'n. to bestow and is not given undeservedly.

For our Honorary Life Membership recipient this year, we have chosen an individual who has been baby sitter for nearly every family in this community. This person has entertained our children for many happy hours, being careful to assure their safety while having charge of them, and has given unselfishly of time and talent to further PTA interests ,and so, to this parent, PTA member, and civic-minded citizen, the Ocean Beach PTA is pleased to present the Honorary Life Membership for 1954 to Mr. Daryll Johnson whom we are very proud to say has well deserved this honor.

AFTER RECEIVING the Silver Star in Korea, Capt. David O. Kramer of San Diego, Calif., is congratulated by Maj. Gen. Ridgley Gaither, commander of the 40th Infantry Division. Kramer, whose wife, Edda, lives at 648 Catalina blvd., is intelligence officer for the division's 223d Regiment. The 29-year-old officer is a veteran of service in World War II and holds the Bronze Star Medal, Purple Heart, Commendation Ribbon and the Good Conduct Medal. Round Trip To Death Valley Provides Bountiful Interest

By Marion Krettler

It is in response to many queries concerning the famous Scotty's Castle in Death Valley that this is being written.

For those who have never visited Death Valley, the turn from Furnace Inn should be to the left, if most of the wonders are to be seen for the first time. And, if the concern is for housing for the night, before going out, the possibilities of lodging should be first investigated. Otherwise, one may have to endure a night in the car. So, if you are traversing that area of scenic wonders and desire remaining for a time, it is wise to write for reservations to Death Valley Hotels Office, 630 Shatto Place, Los Angeles 5, California. The season in Death Valley is just under way. Rates at Furnace Creek Inn are very high, less at the Rancho, so you pay your money and take your choice. Further, at the Rancho,, food is available and, in the evenings, there are lectures about the region.

On To The Castle

At Furnace Inn, we learned that tours through Scotty's Castle are conducted on the hour from ten in the morning until four in the afternoon, so passing up the salt beds and scenes to the left, we traversed the 56 miles to the Castle.

The road isn't good. It is gravelled, slow driving and hard on tires. If the writer took the venture again, she would go by Las Vegas, pass up Baker, the gateway to Death Valley, where food and lodging are extravagantly high, and go to Scotty's via the Nevada Highway. It all depends, however, as to whether one wants to see the Valley as a whole, or whether the destination is Scotty's. In any event the miles must be re-traced.

No reason to dilate on the wonders of Scotty's Castle. Too many articles have been written about that fabulous structure.

It is enough to say that there is a gas station, and food—of a sort. The fee for taking the tour is about $1.30 per person, and cotton moccasions provided by the management, are required, there are boxes full of them, before walking on the beautiful rugs.

Quarters and Dollars

Since the structure passed into Gospel hands, maybe before, I am not informed concerning that, housing for the night may be arranged. In the hacienda, lodging, including breakfast, ranges upward from thirteen dollars.

If one desires sleeping in the Castle itself, in the Johnson suite, the Spanish suite, Scotty's own room, rates go upward for a single person occupying the American room from seven dollars to twenty-four bucks per night.

Just one mention about the Castle furnishings. The gorgeous rugs, made in Spain, are all different, but all carry a grapevine design, since the castle is at the head of Grapevine Pass. A very good highway too, if one approaches from the Nevada side.

A Wonderful Town

How the atmosphere changes once Nevada is entered and the traveller goes down to Beatty, where we remain for the night! In that little desert town we had wonderful quarters, at a moderate price, at El Portal Motel. The beds were soft, the hostess interested in many hobbies, including rock collection, and we enjoyed a really wonderful dinner and breakfast at the Wagon Wheel cafe. The chif was immaculate, his food divine, the waitresses also immaculate and so very kindly.

Beatty is a dog's paradise. With no upkeep of lawns or shrubbery, the dogs are free to roam as they will, and how they do! Even our motel hostess, learning about my small canine, urged bringing her along the next time I visited Beatty. Herself, she owns a collie, brother to Death Valley Scotty's own pet.

Gambler's Paradise

Onward, next morning, to Las Vegas. We visited two of the uptown gambling places, including the Golden Nugget, done in the extravagant decor of the nineties. Everyone so intent on losing money that one could have walked into the "joints" minus clothes and with a red-painted nose, and nobody would have noticed.

Down the Strip, a brief stop for El Rancho Vegas and the new and splendid Sahara. But, whether uptown or on the Strip the pattern was the same. The writer, being a poor sport, gathered in a few nickels from the omnipresent one-armed bandits, but when the machines gave that definite, "no soup" click, she was through.

So, the day being young, oue to Hoover Dam. With my late husband, that wonderful site was often visited, from the beginnigs when the huge cranes swung out from the cliffs, until the depths where we stood became a portion of Lake Mead.

Largest County In World

The guide service through the dam is really wonderful. And how the man conducted the party sniffed at the water we received on the West Coast. We won't go into that either, but he had his argument for the purity of the water that comes from Lake Mead.

We stopped at Needles, California that night, and found that San Bernardino County extends to the border. Told that it is the largest county in the world, that can be believed. Needles, we were told, lives as a railway center and tourist stop. The following day, when we met two business men from Needles, they were outraged. "You were only two blocks from the Colorado river," they said, but no signs pointed that way. Also, Needles has a fine shirt factory and other enterprises. The two men wore beautiful shirts, produced in that factory.

Salton Sea Next

Selecting a perfectly sumptuous motel at Needles, we discovered that decoration did not extend to the beds. They were extremely hard, and the writer is sure that logs were inserted in the pillows. But—the wal to wall carpet was lovely, and the plumbing out of this world.

By-passed Indio for Mecca, traversing the scenic Box Canyon to a gorgeous view of the Salton Sea. Being Monday, eating spots were minus food, so we settled for a hamburger and travelled on.

As you know, the Salton Sea, from some unexplainable cause, is rising yearly. Down at the landing, the project was being moved to higher ground, and, out where the highway had been, only mud and water. Nobody there knew when the invasion would stop, although there are many theories about it.

Explanation Needed

Across the Anza desert and home. A nice way to avoid the Imperial Valley towns, and travel Banner Grade.

The only bother on the trip was explaining to every motel manager: "Yes, we have the same name of Krettler. But this is not my husband. He is my brother-in-law, and we require separate quarters." Well, it's much cheaper going with one's mate, for in Baker that would have cost nine bucks for a couple, we dug up seven dollars each, and how that hurt! Further, we couldn't order just the breakfast we wanted. I like coffee, one piece of toast and a slice of bacon. Could I get it? No. So, I had coffee and brother-in-law ordered breakfast. And if I snitched a piece of his toast and a bit of his bacon, it was nobody's business. But, for my money, if I fare that way again, I could easily pass up Baker for tre Nevada entrance to Death Valley.

HEALTH FOR ALL

HICCUP

". . . hold your breath, and if this fails, then gargle with a little water, and if the hiccup continues, tickle your nose with something and sneeze . . . "

More than 2,000 years ago, the philosopher Plato described this "sure cure" for hoccup. It is still being used, and so are a host of others ranging from sudden fright to sticking the head in a paper bag. Everyone has his favorite remedy and almost any of them can claim to be successful, because usually hiccup yields to simple remedies or none at all.

Hiccup is a sudden involuntary drawing-in of breath due to a spasm of the diaphram. The "hics" come several times a minute and may be as rapid as two a second.

They are the result of some irritation of the nerve pathways and may be caused by a disease or toxic condition, over-eating or drinking, or merely a fit of laughter. There have even been epidemics of hiccup which have been variously explained as mass hysteria or the result of a virus infection.

When a patient suffering from disease develops hiccup, the condition can present serious problems. However, most of us are concerned only with that sudden embarrassing attack of "hics" for which we get anything but sympathy from our neighbors.

If the attack doesn't end quickly under Plato's treatment, you might try light pressure on the eyeballs or the lower part of the throat, or hold a paper bag over your mouth and breath in and out a few times.

If none of these remedies work, your doctor has a number of measures, one of which will probably turn the trick, Antispasmodic drugs and carbon dioxide inhalation are sometimes prescribed. In refactory cases, especially when the spasms are preventing other necessary treatment of a sick person, phrenic nerve block or crush may be necessary.

Fortunately most cases of hiccup stop of themselves in a short time, no matter what remedy is tried.

San Diego Based Ships To Take Part In Practice

Twenty San Diego based Navy warships will participate in the Pacific Training Exercise scheduled for Feb. 15-27. The exercise will be the largest of its type held on the West Coast since World War II.

The San Diego based ships will join 21 others from Long Beach and two from Pearl Harbor, T. H., to form Task Force 12, a unit of the U. S. First Fleet which is headquarters in San Diego. Rear Admiral Maurice E. Curts, Commander Cruiser-Destroyer Force, Pacific Fleet will be Commander Task Force 12. Vice Admiral William K. Phillips, Commander First Fleet will be the officer conducting the exercise.

PacTraEx is designed to increase the combat efficiency of the participating ships and personnel. Although most all of the ships are veterans of the late Korean War, many new personnel now man them.

New Schedule Program Given

Elsewhere in this paper appears a weekly schedule of events at the Community Center, sponsored by the San Diego Park and Recreation Department, under the local direction of Wendell Lisle, Willie May Swift and Donald Donnelly, recreation leaders.

Three thousand children and grownups weekly take advantage of the activities offered at this center. Each Thursday night alone, over two hundred young teenagers attend a weekly dance.

The Yo-Yo contest playoff at the Fordham Community Center Saturday will feature a winner from here. David Kidwell, 13, 1035 Devonshire Drive was the winner of a contest held Feb. 8th here. Mike Snodgrass, 12, was a runner-up. Winning in the girls' contest was, Sandra Burdette, 10, 4538 Del Monte Avenue, with Carol Boland, 11, as runner-up.
